There are a large number of people in Barre who regularly read A. A. Smith and Brother's ad. every week to note what bargains they are offering and to take advantage of them, and it's a mighty good plan. Look for the announcements to be made the specials do not last long. Their ad. to-day is one that should not be overlooked. It gives some extraordinary values. Turn to it right now and read it before you forget it.

The directors of the National Bank of Barre and the Barre Savings bank were entertained last evening at the home of B. A. Eastman, president of the latter institution. Mr. Eastman has recently returned from a successful hunting trip to New Brunswick and a course dinner was served; the piece de resistance of which was moose and caribou meat. Music was furnished during the dinner by Gilbertson's orchestra. At the conclusion the company was entertained by an account of Mr. Eastman's trip.

If those who wish to swell the amount of the City hospital's "Donation day," Thursday, December 3, are unable to carry their donations to the vestry of the Congregational church between the hours of 1:30 and 5:30, they will confer a favor on the Hospital Ladies' Aid society if they will telephone 120—, as in that case the articles will be called for. Donations of all kinds are sought, including jellies, furnishings for rooms, provisions, sheets, pillow-cases, towels, etc., and old linen for bandages. Help the good cause by contributing something.

To-day is the regular time for a change of program at the Bijou theatre, and if all reports are true, the entertainment there this afternoon and to-night will be worth seeing. Patrons of the Bijou seem to be particularly fond of pictures of the humorous kind, and the management has seen to it that a good supply of these pictures be sent them. "Her Beau in Trouble" should give pointers to almost any young lady who is similarly afflicted. Mr. Lord returns to the Bijou to-day as soloist, and has for a song, "True Heart."

One additional letter box was set by the local post office department this morning at the corner of Tremont and Elm street, which will be appreciated by a large number of residents in that section. Four other boxes have been replaced on street posts recently. The government has allowed Barre three combination letter and parcel boxes that will be placed at designated points on the carriers' routes. These boxes have long been overdue from the contractor, but will be set as soon as they arrive. These boxes have long been needed, as there are now no boxes for receiving parcels.

Weed Seeds in Manure.

It is well known that there is considerable risk of introducing new weeds by the purchase of manure and hay and other feeding stuffs. E. L. Oswald of the Maryland experiment station undertook to obtain more definite information on this point, especially as regards dissemination through manure, by studying the effect of the fermentation of manure handled in different ways and of passing through the digestive systems of animals on the vitality of various weed seeds, including seeds of about fifty of the worst weeds found in Maryland.

In experiments in which the manure remained for six months in a barnyard heap and for a short while in piles, as when shipped in carload lots from cities, it was found that in the first case there was no danger and in the second case little danger of distributing live weed seeds. In the experiments in which the weed seeds were fed to yearling steers and the manure handled in various ways it was found that—

First.—Where the manure was hauled directly from the stable as a top dressing an average of only 12.8 per cent of the seed fed germinated.

Second.—Where manure was hauled directly from the stable upon the land and plowed under 2.5 per cent of the seeds fed to animals came up.

Third.—Where the droppings remained on the pasture fields unaltered and as they fell an average of only 3.1 per cent of the seeds fed to animals germinated.

The results indicate that in general it is safe to assume that the vitality of weed seeds is destroyed in well rotted manure.

The Sure Way.

Dorothy's mother found her with an alarm clock on her foot and the alarm set for 6 o'clock.

"Well, for goodness' sake, Dorothy, what mischief are you up to now?"

"Why, mother, I'm not in any mischief, but my foot's asleep, and I want to wake it up."—Puck.

NOTES AND COMMENT

ON THE LEGISLATURE

J. L. Bacon of Hartford is confined to his bed as a result of vaccination.

George L. McLam and two daughters, Alice and Hazel, of Topham were visitors at the State House this week, the guests of his father, Senator McLam.

Senator Lewis of Lamouille has introduced a bill in the Senate of interest to the newspapers of the state. It provides that the judges of probate pay the newspapers for the legal notices printed on the various estates and collect from the estates. As it is now the newspapers print the three notices as the law requires and many times they are obliged to wait a long time before the commissioners come in to settle and sometimes they are never able to collect. The bill also provides that sheriffs sale notices be printed in the newspapers and notices of town meetings.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—Edwin W. Lawrence, M. Rutland, assistant attorney general, has resigned that position to take the place of attorney for the Rutland railroad in place of Judge Powers.

Mr. Lawrence is a native of Rutland, where he was born, March 27, 1881. He fitted for college at the Rutland high school and was graduated cum laude from the university of Vermont in 1901. He afterward studied law, and for several years past has held a responsible place in the office of the attorney general.

MARRIED 80 YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. John Otis Hale of St. Johnsbury Observe Event.

St. Johnsbury, Dec. 2.—Today is the 80th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John Otis Hale. There is to be no public observance but their sons, George H. Hale of Boston and Arthur H. Hale and wife and children of Bradford, are spending the day with them. Mr. and Mrs. Hale were married at Crompton, P. Q., December 2, 1828. They have lived in this town ever since their marriage and have been residents of this village for 32 years. Mr. Hale was a successful farmer until he began to travel as salesman for E. & T. Fairbanks & Co., 31 years ago. He was born in lower Waterford, the son of Otis G. and Eunice Hill Hale, March 15, 1833. Mrs. Hale, formerly Miss Laura Ann Holbrook, was the daughter of Lysander W. and Deborah Stevens Holbrook. Mr. and Mrs. Hale are the parents of six children: Carrie B. (Mrs. M. A. Henkely of Winter Park, Florida, where Mr. and Mrs. Hale often spend the winter; George H. Hale of Boston; Addie D. deceased; J. Otis Hale of Brooklyn and Arthur H. Hale of Bradford. Mr. and Mrs. Hale are loyal members of the North Congregational church and he is an active worker in the Y. M. C. A.

Not a Nature Fake.

It was a day or two after the close of the deer season and, of course, deer occupied at least a portion of the thoughts of every resident of the city.

One man residing on Highland avenue, although not attempting to find traces of game, was surprised one morning to find tracks in the light snow by his garden which he was sure were made by deer. He called a neighbor for consultation and the latter man, pronounced the tracks those of a deer and a large one, too.

The discoverer of the tracks still believes that he entertained a deer unaware and this is written in a spirit of correction so that there may be no chance to accuse him of nature faking. The fact of the case was a neighbor (not the one who agreed with him as to the weight of the deer making the tracks), had a good-sized hog, and the latter grew restless and broke out of quarters. The porker took a little stroll and was later rounded up by its owner without the track finder knowing that Mr. Hog had called.
